

Double Counting International and Cultural Diversity Courses

Texas A&M requires that all students take 6 hours of International and Cultural Diversity courses (ICDs). If this requirement is not met by one of the courses applying towards your degree plan, then you must take 6 extra hours. However, if you select two courses that fulfill a degree requirement such as Humanities for ENGS, Visual and Performing Arts, and/or Environmental Policy, that are also on the list of International and Cultural Diversity courses, then you will not need to take 6 extra hours on top of your degree plan. In other words, the courses would “double count.” The lists below show courses that would fulfill an ICD as well as count towards your degree plan. The list is based on Catalog 131.
